What can I expect at Renton RotaCare Free Clinic?

At RotaCare Free Clinic patients are registered and assisted throughout the process by translators if needed. Nurses take each patient's history and vitals. The clinic has toys and books for children as they wait. The physician examines the patient and charts the findings in a permanent chart. The chart then goes to the pharmacy for dispensing of free drugs and then to the social worker for any special needs and a discharge plan for follow-up care.

RotaCare clinics maintain a large list of pro bono specialist physicians and other low-cost clinics for care outside the clinic's scope of service.

What are RotaCare Free Clinics?

RotaCare Free Clinics have been in existence since 1989, when the first homeless patient was treated in Santa Clara, Calif. Since then RotaCare has expanded to include clinics around the San Francisco Bay Area, Seattle, Renton, Washington D.C., and New York State.
